To,
The Principal,
Prof. Dr. Anita Frantz,
M. C. E. Society's M.A.Rangoonwala Institute Of Hotel Management & Research.
B.K.B Hidayatullah Road, Azam Campus, Camp, Pune.

Dear Madam,

AIC-ADT Baramati Foundation is an incubation centre that assists food entrepreneurs and start-up founders in the Agriculture and Allied domain. Since 2019, we've incubated 34 start-ups. Ms Swapnali Sawale, one of our start-up founders, is developing the OKARA cookies recipe (TOFU By-product). She is having some difficulties standardising the ingredients and flavours in the cookies.

We learned about your institution through Mr. Akash Walake, a former professor in the home science division of the Shardabai Pawar Mahila Mahavidyalaya in Shardanagar, Baramati. We hope that your bakery experts can help Ms. Swapnali Sawale standardise her Cookie recipe with some inputs. We are sending her to your institute with all of the ingredients and cookie samples. She will be on your campus on Monday, December 12, 2022. We would appreciate it if you could assist her in developing her recipe.

Thank you very much for your kind cooperation!

ATAL INNOVATION MISSION

Sincerely,

Ms. Jaya Tiwari

Biogas Plant Visit

Date: 16th Dec 2019

M. A. Rangoonwala IHMR Pune had organized Training session for the Teaching staff of Bharti Vidya Peth College of Hotel Management . for the operating method of anaerobic food Digester . The term anaerobic digestion refers to a special treatment applied to organic materials. It can be applied to a range of natural biodegradable materials, including food waste, slurry, sewage sludge and manure. This material, known as biomass, is naturally broken down until it emits a new gas - known as biogas. Biogas is a methane-rich gas, comprising of around 60 per cent methane and 40 per cent carbon dioxide. This gas can then be used to generate energy. The process takes place inside an anaerobic digester; a large, sealed tank which is void of oxygen. The biomass is heated to around the temperature of blood, when it will react with the naturally occurring micro-organisms and bacteria. It goes through four stages; hydrolysis, acidogenesis, acetogenesis and methanogenesis. The end result is that the biogas is emitted and a material called digestate is left behind. Both the gas and the digestate material can be re-used, therefore making it a very effective way to recycle your waste materials.

Biogas Plant Visit

Date: 20th Dec 2019

Students and faculty Members of Bharti Vidyapeeth Deemed University Visited the Anaerobic Digester Plant of M.C.E Society's M.A. Rangoonwala Institute of Hotel Management & Research, Azam Campus, Camp, Pune, to understand the working of the Biogas plant. Asst Prof Imran Sayyed Who is the Principal Investigator of the research made the Students understand Biogas is primarily Methane and Carbon dioxide. This energy release allows biogas to be used as a fuel; it can be used for any heating purpose, such as cooking. It can also be used in a gas engine to convert the energy in the gas into electricity and heat. Producing biogas gives many advantages for the environment, companies and people involved. The advantages are: Biogas is a green energy source in form of electricity and heat for the local grid. Considerable environmental advantages - less emission of the greenhouse gasses methane, CO₂ and nitrous oxide.
